

April 7, 2016

Dr. Lee Stadtlander
College of Social and Behavioral Sciences
Walden University
Minneapolis, Minnesota

Dear Dr. Stadtlander,

I am writing to volunteer as a reviewer for the Journal of Social, Behavioral, and Health Science. My research primarily focuses on the application of quantitative methodology to address relationships between health and individual differences. I've worked predominantly with survival analysis (e.g., Jackson, Connolly, Garrison, et al. 2015) and quasi-experimental sibling methods (e.g., Garrison et al., under review; Rodgers, ..., Garrison et al., 2016).

I have reviewed articles for the Journal of Family Issues, Journal of Research in Personality, and Translational Issues in Psychological Science. At present, I am a doctoral student at Vanderbilt University, specializing in Quantitative Psychology. I have enclosed my CV. I have enclosed a copy of my CV.

Sincerely yours,

S. Mason Garrison
s.mason.garrison@gmail.com
